Candle-making lessons

Since May 2026, a candle-making lessons program has been launched at the Nakashian Children's Support Center under the sponsorship of SOAR, offering the children of the center an engaging and creative opportunity to acquire new practical and artistic skills.

The workshops are led by a professional candle-making specialist, who visits the center twice a week to conduct 1.5-hour sessions. A total of 12 children are actively participating in the program.

The first several classes focused primarily on theoretical instruction, introducing the participants to the art and process of candle making, the materials used in production, and the essential safety rules and precautions that must be followed throughout the crafting process.

Subsequent sessions have been more practice-oriented, allowing the children to apply their newly acquired knowledge through hands-on activities and creative experimentation. Through these workshops, the participants not only develop technical and artistic abilities, but also gain confidence, patience, and a meaningful sense of accomplishment in a warm and supportive environment.

The children eagerly look forward to both of these workshops and participate in them with great enthusiasm, joy, and dedication.

The children and the staff of the Nakashian Children's Support Center are deeply grateful for the opportunity to take part in these meaningful and enriching programs, which bring creativity, learning, and inspiration into the lives of the children.
